One and the Same.

Our name may have changed, but our roots remain.

After nearly 30 years of serving the greater Sacramento community, Cares Community Health is now One Community Health. Our new name is a part of our ongoing mission to create a healthier Sacramento by increasing care for all members of our community—regardless of age, ethnicity, gender, orientation, or ability to pay. While the number of services and facilities we offer patients may grow and change, one important element remains the same—at One Community Health our community and commitment will always include those living with HIV/AIDS.

OutServe-SLDN Expands Programming & Services

The nation's oldest and largest LGBT military organization has announced its continued expansion and growth with the addition of a new staff member and expanded programming services.

This follows the organization's merger with the Military Partners & Families Coalition, which was finalized in December 2017.

OutServe-SLDN has hired Kai River Blevins as Director of Education, Chapter & Veteran's services.

"I am thrilled to have Kai joining the OutServe-SLDN team as our Director of Education, Chapter & Veteran's Services," said Matt Thorn, President & CEO of OutServe-SLDN. "Continued development in all three of the key areas Kai will have oversight to is a logical next step for us as an organization, as we continue to push-back against the Trump-Pence administration and ensure our LGBT military and veteran communities are receiving due care, services, and representation."

"I am thrilled to be part of the OutServe-SLDN team" said Kai Blevins, Director of

Kai River Blevins

Education, Chapter & Veteran Services. "This position reflects OutServe-SLDN's commitment to our service members, veterans, and their families."

In addition to the hiring of Kai, OutServe-SLDN marks further expansion with Legal Director Peter Perkowsky becoming a certified Veterans Services Officer. This addition will allow OutServe-SLDN to engage more expansively with our LGBT veteran community; ensuring they get the necessary and vital services due to them.

"The addition of Peter's status as a Veteran Service Officer is critical to the expansion of our work" said Matt Thorn, President & CEO of OutServe-SLDN. "This growth is a reaffirmation of the work still left to do and the commitment that OutServe-SLDN has to our LGBT military community."

Kai received their Master's of Legal Studies, with an emphasis in civil rights and constitutional law, from Willamette University. Kai received their bachelor's degree in Sociology and Political Science, magna cum laude, with a certificate in Democracy and Social Movements, where they focused on exploring social movements as both catalysts and threats to democratization processes around the world, from the University of Colorado. In their free time, Kai enjoys writing poetry and articles as a contributing writer for everyoneisgay.com.

School Kids to Help Senior Neighbors with their Garden

Camellia Waldorf School (CWS) community met up at ACC Care Center Saturday, March 3 to plant a summer vegetable garden for their residents. CWS students will spend several days a week in gardening class, learning about soil, fertilizer, composting, irrigation and seasonal planting.

The CWS garden is their gardening classroom, where teacher Carmen Gunn leads the way. The energetic students have gained a lot of gardening knowledge and experience this year and are ready to share it with their neighbors at ACC!

The benefits of gardening extend to both young and old—and everyone in between. Spending time in the garden is grounding and has several physical and emotional benefits. Residents at ACC value their time in the garden area watering and watching it grow, but need assistance with planting. They would love to grow a 'salad bar' garden for this summer. This is where the students at Camellia Waldorf School come in. They have spent all year learning in their school garden and would love to share their knowledge, strength and heart. In addition to planting veggies, students will have the opportunity for making intergenerational connections with their new Pocket/Greenhaven neighbors. The children's energy, giggles and simple presence are sure to grow some joy as well!

Together with their parents and gardening teacher Carmen Gunn, CWS students began this project on March 3, and will continue to dig in and fulfill the residents' wishes of growing a summer garden.

SFGMC Concert Builds Bridges for a Better Future

The San Francisco Gay Men's Chorus (SFGMC) continues Season 40: Unstoppable with Bridges, a one-night-only homecoming concert centered around music's ability to move hearts and minds and catalyze momentous change.

"We live in a city of bridges," says Dr. Tim Seelig, SFGMC Artistic Director. "Over the last 40 years, the San Francisco Gay Men's Chorus has been an integral part of bridging together the LGBTQ community in the Bay Area and worldwide. Last fall, we took our music and message on the road to five states in the Deep South for our Lavender Pen Tour. During that week, we learned so much about our country, our LGBTQ brothers and sisters, and most of all, ourselves. We want to share those stories and experiences with our Bay Area audiences with Bridges."

The 275 members of the Chorus will be joined by three Oakland Interfaith choirs and iconic folk activist Holly Near for this show. Videos and photos from the tour with shared stories will be interspersed and the California premiere of Joel Thompson's stunning new choral work Seven Last Words of the Unarmed, which deals with police brutality and social justice in our divisive political climate will be performed.

Bridges will also feature a special performance of "Singing for Our Lives," a protest folk song written by activist and singer/songwriter Holly Near and first performed in 1978 by SFGMC at the candlelight vigil mourning the assassination of Supervisor Harvey Milk and Mayor George Moscone. Near will join SFGMC to perform this iconic song.

Presented by the John C. Kish Foundation, Bridges will take place at Davies Symphony Hall (201 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco) on Thursday, March 29 at 8 p.m. Tickets range in price from $25-$125 and are available now by visiting www.sfgmc.org or by calling City Box Office at 415-392-4400.

Adam Rippon & Gus Kenworthy's Olympic Bromance

by Chris Narloch

I think they would make a super-cute couple, but I guess skier Gus Kenworthy already has a boyfriend, so ice skater Adam Rippon will have to settle for a beautiful bromance with his new BFF, fellow gay Olympic athlete Kenworthy.

Neither athlete ultimately brought home the gold, but their budding friendship, which resulted from the pair being the first openly gay American athletes ever to compete at a Winter Olympics, was one of the highlights of the recent games in Pyeongchang, especially for LGBT television viewers.

The two men tweeted and texted each other in between events, and they cheered each other on when their schedules allowed them to attend each other's Olympic competitions in South Korea.

Both athletes made headlines in Pyeongchang, with Rippon refusing to meet Vice President Mike Pence, who (lamentably) was enlisted to lead the U.S. delegation at this year's Winter Olympics despite his dismal record on LGBT issues.

For his part, Kenworthy was captured by NBC cameras -- for the whole world to see -- kissing his boyfriend Matthew Wilkas at the bottom of a ski slope before his qualifying run.

The beautiful thing is that it won't be long before these moments in queer history become the new normal, when nobody will bat an eye over two gay men competing at the Olympics.

Openly gay athletes Gus Kenworthy and Adam Rippon competed at the recent Olympic Winter Games

NCAC Rocks!

by Laura Lee

In December, 2016 a close friend invited me to attend the NCAC beneficiary check distribution event. My life took on new meaning that day! I joined this amazing organization to participate in the 2017 Nor Cal AIDS Cycle event. It has been the most enjoyable uphill climb I have ever had!

In December, 2016 a close friend invited me to attend the NCAC beneficiary check distribution event. My life took on new meaning that day!

I joined this amazing organization to participate in the 2017 NorCal AIDS Cycle event. It has been the most enjoyable uphill climb I have ever had!

Recently, I had a medical issue during a training ride and the concern demonstrated and actions taken for my well-being were off the charts!

I am so excited to be a part of this organization that I applied and was approved to be a part of the Board of Directors. This has given me the

NCAC 2017 closing ceremony.

Riders pedal 300 miles over four days in the beautiful foothills of the Sierra Nevada to raise money and awareness for HIV/AIDS service providers in the Sacramento Valley and beyond.

An awesome fact is that NorCal AIDS Cycle has raised over $3 million since 2005 to support Northern California non-profit organizations!

The amazing impact NCAC makes is only a part of what attracts me or keeps me engaged in the organization. It is the consistent, vibrant support, camaraderie and team work that continues to inspire.

In every way and on so many levels, NCAC rocks! My mentor checked in with me regularly, coached me on gear, riding attire, equipment and invited me to supportive activities so I could experience the real flavor of NCAC.

When my mentor wasn't there, others were available to guide me on training rides and to enthusiastically show me the way! The crew support was and is fantastic! When I got lost on a couple training rides, the crew found me, pointed me in the right direction and followed me to ensure I rejoined the other riders.

New Guide Offers LGBTQ Travel Safety Tips

LGBTQ people are often subject to more scrutiny, bias, harassment and other unwelcome attention than their straight counterparts when traveling.

When traveling to a country where sexual orientation or gender identity is criminalized or marginalized, LGBTQ people have to deal with additional layers of complexity. This expansive guide from the editors of ManAboutWorld Magazine addresses travel safety for all LGBTQ travelers with extensive sections specifically for women, non-binary and trans travelers.

The free distribution of this guide is made possible by support from AIG Travel and Travel Guard travel insurance.

"We have gathered insights, anecdotes and recommendations from the most important and influential voices in the world of travel and curated the most reliable and current online resources to help LGBTQ people travel more safely, comfortably, confidently and enjoyably," said Ed Salvato of manaboutworld.com. "We're often asked 'is it safe to travel to _____?' (fill in the name of any of 76+ countries where homosexuality or gender expression are criminalized or marginalized).

"There's no easy answer, so we've teamed up with Outright Action International to better frame the question, and provide the perspective and resources for LGBTQ travelers to find the best answer for themselves. Access this guide here: <http://bit.ly/isitsafeLGBTQ>

ManAboutWorld also partners with the U.S. Department of State's

LGBTQ GUIDE TO TRAVEL SAFETY

Bureau of Consular Affairs to produce semi-annual Twitter chats addressing the topic of LGBTQ travel safety during two busy travel-planning periods: early June before major LGBTQ Pride events and in early winter in time for holiday travel.

Over the past year, the first three Twitter chat collaborations (December 2016, June 2017 and January 2018) generated a total of 62.9 million impressions and reached over 8.9 million accounts.

Other chat partners include the Transportation Security Administration (TSA), the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), Human Rights Watch, OutRight Action International and the International Gay and Lesbian Travel Association (IGLTA). The LGBTQ travel safety chats are the largest of any of the Twitter chats the Bureau of Consular Affairs conducts.

You can download a PDF version of the guide at bit.ly/LGBTQtravelsafetyguide, or download the mobile version in the free ManAboutWorld App in the AppStore and Google Play (search ManAboutWorld).

Cirque Du Soleil's Crystal Coming to SJ's SAP Center

Cirque du Soleil will bring Crystal, its 42nd production and first-ever experience on ice, to San Jose's SAP Center this March, in what will be its only Northern California engagement.

World-class ice skaters and acrobats take their new frozen playground by storm with speed and fluidity as they challenge the laws of gravity with a flurry of unexpected acrobatics.

In Crystal, the show's main character, sets out on an exhilarating quest to fulfill her destiny as she dives into a world of her own imagination. She soars through this surreal world at high speed to become what she was always destined to be: confident, free, empowered.

Crystal is about looking at things from fresh angles, peeking through the veneer of everyday life, reframing one's daily reality to see what one might have missed. Sometimes the only way to appreciate things is to look at them sideways. Discovering one's individuality and uniqueness requires venturing out on thin ice.

Crystal will be at the SAP Center from Wednesday, March 28 to Sunday, April 1. Tickets are available for purchase at cirquedusoleil.com/crystal.

Crystal is a new kind of performance as Cirque du Soleil meets the ice.

Coming Out Against Underage LGBTQI Tobacco Sales

by April Roeseler, BSN, MSPH

In less than two years, California's Tobacco 21 or "T21" law has proven to be a powerful weapon in the war on illegal tobacco sales to underage youth, with research now showing that illegal tobacco sales to underage youth has dropped almost in half, down to 5.7 percent in 2017 from 10.3 percent in 2016.

Signed into law by Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. in 2016, Tobacco 21 prohibits tobacco retailers from selling tobacco products, including e-cigarettes, to anyone under 21.

This news is a welcome breath of fresh air to the California Department of Public Health (CDPH). The department had just 45 days to enact a massive outreach campaign and now more than 98 percent of tobacco retail store owners, managers and clerks are

According to LGBT Healthlink, tobacco use is the most serious, yet, preventable health crisis facing lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender youth in their teens and twenties. Approximately 40 percent of LGBTQI high school students actively use at least one type of tobacco product, a rate that's 33 percent higher than among heterosexual students. LGBTQI youth are also twice as likely to be daily smokers and they have higher rates of tobacco-related aware of the T21 law.

"Mind if I smoke?"

Happily, the majority of them support it. Conversely, it's disappointing to note that it's the "tobacco only" stores that still have the highest rate of illegal tobacco sales to minors.

California was the second state in the nation, after Hawaii, to enact such a statewide law and since then a handful more have followed suit.

Stopping the illegal sale of tobacco products and e-cigarettes to underage youth is, indeed, a national issue but it's not without opposition. Tobacco companies constantly bombard teens with thick-as-smoke persuasive advertising. The flashy tobacco marketing tools used by Big Tobacco infer smoking is a way for teens to fit into social groups and feel "normal" in an often chaotic time of life.

One underage community specifically being targeted by Big Tobacco is LGBTQI youth.

According to the Centers for Disease Control, high rates of tobacco use among LGBTQI youth is due in part to the aggressive marketing by tobacco companies that sponsor events, bar promotions, giveaways, and advertisements.

Using the guise of community support, tobacco companies financially support gay pride festivals and other LGBTQI community events and contribute to local and national LGBTQI and HIV/AIDS organizations. Evidence indicates LGBTQI adolescents are especially susceptible to tobacco use.

Travel Like a Maharajah: See India in Style Without Breaking the Bank

by Eric Poole

Many people think India isn't much more than the Taj Mahal and poor people selling Chiclets. But this country of 35 UNESCO World Heritage sites (the U.S., by comparison, has 23), is chock full of extraordinary sightseeing.

Getting around can be its own adventure!

And thanks to an amazing exchange rate, you can see it all in 5-star luxury, for prices comparable to a 4-star trip elsewhere!

Seeing a country like India is a life-changing experience. But let's face it, most of us would like to have a life-changing experience followed by a nice dinner and a bottle of wine, and while the culture of this ancient and less developed country is absolutely fascinating, it can also be a little overwhelming.

As Americans, we're not always up for the power going out every couple of hours, or having to dodge cows on the way to lunch. That's why there's nothing better after spending the day immersing yourself in these incredibly unique – and sometimes chaotic – cultures of India than to come back to a peaceful, elegant river cruise ship or 5-star hotel, and be pampered like a third world dictator. Especially when you can do it for a relative bargain!

Fortunately, not all the tours to India are with straight tour operators. A handful of gay travel companies, like Brand g Vacations offer all-LGBT trips that make the experience not only more memorable, but way less annoying, since you won't have somebody's kid throwing a tantrum in a palace, or old cranky old men who yell, "Where's the bathroom?" in a monastery.

With that in mind, here are a couple of tips for booking a tour to India:

- 1) Look for a company that uses 5-star river cruise and hotel accommodations – like the all-suite Ganges Voyager cruise ship, for example. Each Voyager suite has high ceilings (a rarity in river or ocean cruise ships), a french balcony, hand-painted murals and a large bath (some even come with picture windows). With a ship like this, you can eat and drink your face off and sleep under Egyptian cotton duvets – all for a surprisingly low price.

- 2) Be sure to choose one that's fully escorted, since the India experience can be a challenge to navigate on your own. There are incredible opportunities to experience and interact with local culture, but you want to have these knowing that there's an experienced guide there to help facilitate them and solve any problems. On one recent gay tour, a guest had a medical issue and had to get immediate hospital treatment – not the kind of thing you want to attempt on your own, unless you're looking for a good story to tell at cocktail parties.

There's no better way to see India than to see it in 5-star style. So, whether you do it with a gay tour operator, on your own, or with a straight tour company, come explore this extraordinary country like the maharajah – or goddess, or diva, or despot – you were meant to be!

Eric Poole is Director of Marketing for Brand g Vacations, the Leader in All-LGBT River Cruises and Land Tours.

Frank & Mary Palmer

Frank Palmer & Mary Palmer were married in Olean NY on September 10th 1951. They were married 67 years and they passed away just two weeks apart from each other. Mary passed away on February 4, 2018 and Frank passed away on February 18, 2018, both passed in Sacramento California. Mary was 86 years old and Frank was 87.

Frank was a Cum Laude graduate of St. Bonaventure University and was in the Navy and served in the Korean War on a destroyer escort.

They had five sons, George, Anthony, Thomas, Francis, and Frederick. They had 8 grandchildren and 6 great grandchildren.

Mary's parents Antonio and Freida Primikiris as well as Frank's parents George and Angelina Palmer were residence of Olean, NY.

Frank and Mary were very active in the Sacramento LGBT community via their son Fred Palmer and his husband Peter Milinazzo. Often Fred's folks would attend and work at Sac Pride, and you could see their smiling faces at NCAC bike ride events, Rainbow Chamber events, PFLAG Ice Cream Socials and many more. Frank and Mary also volunteered, when they lived in Lompoc, with the AIDS bike ride too.

In lieu of flowers, a nursing scholarship has been set up in both their names, in the Palmer family name, via the Rainbow Chamber Scholarship Fund, which their youngest son, Fred, set up. Donations may be made to the 501c3 tax deductible fund, via web site or by mail. For more info <https://www.rainbowchamber.com/donation/>

Contributions may be made there for the Palmer Family Nursing Scholarship Fund, established in memory of Mary Palmer, mother of Chamber founding member Fred Palmer, who passed on Sunday, February, 4, 2018, and Fred's father, Frank Palmer, who passed on Sunday, February 18, 2018. All contributions to the Rainbow Chamber Foundation will be earmarked for the Palmer Family fund through the end of March.

Our heartfelt condolences to Fred, his family, and to Frank and Mary's many close friends in the Sacramento community. Thank you!

The Ten Tenors Will Belt It Out In Folsom

Fresh off the success of their 20th Anniversary World Tour, The Ten Tenors return with the new show Wish You Were Here, a celebration of musical legends lost in their prime that will play three performances at Folsom's Harris Center in mid-March.

Ten Tenors

Featuring selections from late, great artists such as David Bowie, Prince, Amy Winehouse, John Lennon, Michael Jackson, Freddie Mercury, Whitney Houston and more, "Wish You Were Here" promises to be don't-miss entertainment.

In this heartfelt tribute, Australia's "vocal wonder from down under" (Broadway World) will take you on a feel-good journey through some of music's greatest hits, including classic rock anthems, recent chart toppers, soaring arias and other traditional favorites.

Rumor has it that there are at least a couple queer men in The Ten Tenor's current lineup so you can play "guess the gay" while you luxuriate in all those beautiful voices during the group's trio of local shows over two days.

The Ten Tenors will perform March 13-14 in Folsom. For more information, visit www.HarrisCenter.net.

Three Fantastic Gay-Friendly Films Reviewed

by Chris Narloch

It's not every day that we get several gay-friendly films in theaters at the same time, but Sacramento lucked out this month. Call it March Movie Madness, thanks to the late arrival of the 2017 trans tale A Fantastic Woman at the Tower – where Call Me By Your Name was still playing as I wrote this.

The other two LGBT titles reviewed below are the short movie In A Heartbeat and Love, Simon, the first feature film about a gay teen to receive a wide release by a major U.S. movie studio. (Thank you, 20th Century Fox.)

Love, Simon

LGBT films break out of the art-house with this charming mainstream movie starring Nick Robinson, Jennifer Garner, and Josh Duhamel, which is based on the novel Simon vs. the Homo Sapiens Agenda by Becky Albertalli.

Robinson stars as Simon Spier, a closeted gay high school student who is forced to balance his friends, his family, his secret online queer crush, and the blackmailer

"Love, Simon" Watch the trailer at www.foxmovies.com/movies/love-simon threatening to out him to the entire school.

Garner and Duhamel give lovely performances as Simon's parents, who are unusually well written for a young adult dramedy like this.

The movie wouldn't work at all without the right Simon, however, and Robinson is beyond adorable and extremely likable as the title character, who learns the valuable lesson that, in his case, being gay hasn't hurt those around him but being closeted has.

I'll let you discover how that happens on your own, since the film's script is actually fairly clever about hiding the identity of Simon's secret admirer and dropping false clues that get Simon's and our hopes up.

Efficiently directed by Greg Berlanti, Love, Simon isn't going to win any Oscars, but it is a very sweet, entertaining popcorn movie that offers tweens and teens a welcome respite from the fears of bullying and school shootings that have sadly become part of their daily lives.

I wish there had been a hopeful, happily-ever-after gay movie like this when I was a teenager.

Love, Simon will open in hundreds of multiplexes from coast to coast on March 16.

Chile about a transgender singer who faces intense scorn and discrimination after the sudden death of her older boyfriend.

Featuring an Oscar-worthy performance by trans actress

Trans actress Daniela Vega stars in "A Fantastic Woman"

Daniela Vega, A Fantastic Woman is a heartbreakingly beautiful journey inside the skin of another human being who only wants to be treated with the same dignity and respect as everyone else.

A Fantastic Woman, in Spanish with English subtitles, is scheduled to open at Sacramento's Tower Theatre on March 9. Don't miss it.

In A Heartbeat

I stumbled upon this marvelous animated mini-movie on YouTube, where it can be viewed for free at

A still from the animated short film "In A Heartbeat"

A Fantastic Woman

By the time you read this, the 2018 Oscars will have been handed out and this nominee for Best Foreign Film may have beat out the other four nominees. I hope so because a win for the movie might help repair some of the damage done to the transgender rights movement by the trans-phobic Trump administration.

A Fantastic Woman also happens to be an excellent movie, a fictional but entirely realistic story set in

In A Heartbeat is an Oscar-worthy, gorgeous-looking short film by Esteban Bravo and Beth David that has more to say about love and longing and the heart's desire than most two-hour movies.

Four fantastic minutes long, the short had me bawling like a baby at the end thanks to its sweet story about a young gay boy whose heart literally has a mind of its own. Check it out. You won't be sorry.

Check Out Tracey Thorn's New Record

by Chris Narloch

If you wondered what happened to Everything But The Girl, the talented duo who had a global smash hit record with the haunting ballad "Missing" in 1995, wonder no more, pop music fans.

Tracey Thorn

After 27 years as a couple, Tracey Thorn and the other half of Everything But The Girl, Ben Watt, married in 2008, and they live in North London with their twin girls and a son.

Everything But The Girl has been mostly inactive since 2000, but the couple continues to work on other projects both separately and together.

This month, Ms. Thorn is back with a stylish solo record (titled simply Record) that succeeds as both a calling card for new fans and a reminder for middle-aged music lovers like me of what a superb singer the 55-year-old songstress was and still is.

Thorn's rich, deep and unmistakable voice is well-served by Ewan Pearson's skillful synth-pop production, which gives Record a varied appeal that should make fans of dance music and fans of straightforward pop equally happy.

All nine of the songs on the disc were solely written by Thorn, and the centerpiece (chronologically and also in terms of quality) is the fifth cut, "Sister," a hypnotic nine-minute-plus dance track that features backing vocals from Corinne Bailey Rae.

Like Bruno Mars, who scored big with just nine tracks on his enormously popular current CD, 24K Magic, Thorn knows that sometimes less is more. She doesn't waste any time on Record, and there is no filler to be found, just terrific tunes like "Queen," "Guitar" and "Dancefloor."
