Governor Newsom Signed the SAFETY Act

The Support Academic Futures & Educators for Today's Youth (SAFETY) Act, signed into law on July 15, by Governor Gavin Newsom, marks a groundbreaking advancement in California's commitment to safeguarding LGBTQ+ students in schools. Introduced by Assemblymember Chris Ward and the California Legislative LGBTQ Caucus, the legislation (AB 1955) aims to counteract the harmful forced outing policies that have threatened the safety and well-being of transgender, nonbinary, and other LGBTQ+ youth in several school districts across the state.

The rise of politically motivated attacks on LGBTQ+ rights and dignity has prompted the urgent need for measures to protect vulnerable students. Some school districts have adopted policies that mandate teachers to disclose a student's gender identity or preferred name and pronouns to parents without the student's consent. These policies have had detrimental effects on the mental health of LGBTQ+ students, leading to increased instances of bullying, harassment, and discrimination within school environments.

The SAFETY Act is designed to address these issues comprehensively by prohibiting school districts from implementing forced outing policies. It empowers parents and students with resources to navigate discussions about gender identity in a private and respectful manner. Furthermore, the act safeguards teachers and school staff from retaliation if they refuse to disclose a student's LGBTQ+ identity against their wishes.

California's pioneering stance on LGBTQ+ student protection is highlighted by the SAFETY Act, which sets a precedent as the first state to explicitly ban forced outing policies in schools. By creating a safe and inclusive learning environment, the act aims to provide a sanctuary for transgender and nonbinary youth who may not find acceptance or support in their own homes. Ensuring that schools are gender-affirming spaces is crucial, especially considering the alarming statistics that reveal the lack of LGBTQ+ affirmation in many households.

The importance of supportive school environments in the lives of LGBTQ+ youth cannot be overstated. The Trevor Project's 2024 survey underscores the significance of schools as safe havens for transgender and nonbinary students, with over half of respondents reporting a sense of gender affirmation within their educational settings. This positive environment correlates with lower rates of suicide attempts among LGBTQ+ youth, emphasizing the critical role that schools play in fostering mental health and well-being.

Chair Susan Eggman of the California Legislative LGBTQ Caucus expressed pride in the passage of AB 1955, recognizing it as a landmark policy that solidifies California's reputation as a leader in LGBTQ+ rights and protections. The collaborative efforts of various stakeholders, including parents, teachers, LGBTQ+ advocates, and youth organizations, have been instrumental in supporting this legislation. The collective commitment to creating safe and affirming school environments for all students, irrespective of their gender identity, underscores the shared belief that ensuring the well-being of youth should be a top priority for society.

The SAFETY Act represents a significant stride towards promoting inclusivity, respect, and safety for LGBTQ+ students in California schools. By outlawing forced outing policies and fostering a culture of acceptance and support, the act reinforces the principle that every student deserves to learn and grow in an environment that celebrates their identity and affirms their dignity.

We Must Stand Together and Report Hate Crimes

FBI Sacramento Special Agent in Charge Siddhartha "Sid" Patel

The FBI's mission is clear. We protect the American people and uphold the Constitution. We are sworn to protect all who are here—regardless of immigration status--and every American traveling abroad. We take pride in diversity in our ranks in all its forms.

As the special agent in charge of the FBI Sacramento Field Office, I am deeply concerned about the continued rise in hate crimes across our state and the nation as detailed in FBI's Crime Data Explorer, <https://crime-data-explorer.fr.cloud.gov/pages/explorer/crime/hate-crime>. What is more unsettling to me is that we know that not all victims and witnesses report hate crimes to law enforcement. We must work together to stop hate crimes and foster trust in law enforcement within vulnerable communities.

Crime statistics do not capture the real, human impact when hate crimes occur. These crimes strike fear in the hearts of an entire community, not just the individual. It's the intended effect.

We simply cannot let hate win. We must stand together to report hate crimes and identify perpetrators of such heinous acts to protect everyone. Unreported hate crimes further enable those responsible for these vile crimes to avoid justice, embolden perpetrators, and leave community members vulnerable to similar crimes.

Hateful acts are terrible events but what constitutes a possible federal hate crime? The United States Department of Justice defines a federal hate crime as a criminal offense against a person or property such as vandalism, arson, assault, or murder, motivated in whole or in part by an offender's bias against a race, religion, disability, sexual orientation, ethnicity, gender, or gender identity.

Is hate speech criminal? From a federal perspective, hate speech—while undoubtedly offensive and disgusting -- is not a crime on its own. The Constitution defends free speech, including hateful speech, unless such statements are a threat and are intended to deprive you of your rights.

How do we stop hate crime? Standing together against hate is powerful but the simple act of reporting hate crime is an important step to protect the entire community. While the FBI may initiate an investigation from news reports, tips, or information from partner agencies, we often need to collect details only a victim or witness can provide.

Our office stands by victims who bravely report their experiences. All victims are treated with care, respected, and supported throughout an investigation. We conduct a thorough investigation, often working with local law enforcement to review all available facts. We encourage witnesses to share what they heard and saw to fill gaps a victim may have in recollection to offer a complete picture of what occurred. Most importantly, we ensure victims are heard and have access to the resources they need to begin healing.

What can you do to stop hate crime? Always support each other and your community; do not let a criminal silence your voice or the voices of others. Always be aware of your surroundings and report suspicious activities to law enforcement. As with any other offense, individuals who are planning and commit hate crimes are emboldened by silence. Always call 911 immediately if you or someone else is in immediate danger and report threats and hate crimes to your local FBI field office (<https://www.fbi.gov/contact-us/field-offices>), call 1-800-CALL-FBI (1-800-225-5324), or submit a tip to <https://tips.fbi.gov>.

This resource is supported in whole or in part by funding provided by the State of California, administered by the California State Library in partnership with the California Department of Social Services and the California Commission on Asian and Pacific Islander American Affairs as part of the Stop the Hate program. To report a hate incident or hate crime and get support, go to <https://www.cavshate.org/>.

PETE BUTTIGIEG

July 21, 2024

Joe Biden has earned his place among the best and most consequential presidents in our history. Americans are much better off because of his leadership and accomplishments. He always puts our country first, as he demonstrated today, and I know he will continue to do so for the rest of his term.

Kamala Harris is now the right person to take up the torch, defeat Donald Trump, and succeed Joe Biden as President. I have seen her extraordinary leadership firsthand, working closely with her during the 2020 campaign and then in the historically effective Biden-Harris administration. I will do all that I can to help her win this election to lead America forward as our next President.

Little Activisms Be a Poll Worker

by Judy Saint

Millions of Americans help at the polls at over 120,000 locations across the country. You, too, can Help America Vote. HelpAmericaVote.gov

NOVEMBER 5, 2024 PRESIDENTIAL GENERAL ELECTION

Ballots will be mailed beginning the week of October 7th. If you haven't received your ballot or you need an accessible ballot, please contact us at (800) 762-8019.

Important Dates:

Date	Event
October 21	Last day to register to vote.
October 26	Some Vote Centers open! Vote Early!
November 2	All Vote Centers open through Election Day!
November 5	Last day to return your ballot by 8:00 pm.

Voted ballots may be returned:

- ★ By mail – Postage is paid! Remember to sign the envelope.
- ★ At any Ballot Drop Box – More than 60 locations across the county.
- ★ At any Vote Center – Drop off your ballot or vote in person!

At a Vote Center, receive assistance, get a replacement ballot, register and vote with same day registration (SDR), or obtain a Ballot Translation Guide.

Scan the QR code for Drop Box and Vote Center locations.

I remember taking my mail-in ballot to our election headquarters in Auburn. Several people greeted us in the foyer and welcomed us inside. Once we were inside, others happily directed us to the proper counter. The friendly people behind the counter told us we could either drop our ballot envelope into the slot or we could feed our ballot right then into a voting machine, which we did. Another smiling person at the voting machines helped us make sure our ballot was secure inside its folder, helped us feed it into the machine, then happily pointed to the number of votes for that machine which clicked up one as my ballot was accepted. With so many smiling people happy to help us, this was a most rewarding voting experience. No one ever saw who I voted for – that was never an issue. They were there to help me vote.

The workers made all the difference. You can do the same this November. Plus, most workers are paid, even for attending the 2-3 hour training session.

California needs poll workers by the thousands. "54.1% of jurisdictions had a difficult time recruiting poll workers. The average poll worker is aged 61, and 17% were first time workers." (US Election Assistance Commission) That means 83% of poll workers are returning to do it again. That's nice to see.

Can you do this? Maybe with some friends? Do you belong to a social or service organization that might like to help together as a group? Even high school students can work the polls (must be 16). Nice pocket money.

You can fill a variety of positions: Inspector or Supervisor (open and close the voting and set up equipment). Clerk (maintain the voting center, issue and receive official ballots). Drop Box Closer (drive to an assigned drop box to secure the ballots and transport them to the designated location). Hand Count volunteers. Or other jobs, depending on your county.

On training day, you will learn how to verify your location and duties, when to arrive, and who you will report to. You will discuss procedures with an instructor, watch a few videos, and be given some written materials to later refresh your memory. You will have plenty of time to ask questions. You will also be assured that every worker on your team is another valuable resource, eager to help you on Election Day if you need it. You never work alone. You are always with your dedicated team, there to help you and each other.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY

Sacramento County, for example, needs around 1,500 workers, paying $13 to $18 per hour, plus $25 for attending training. Call (916) 875-6451 or visit Sac's website at <https://elections.sacounty.net/Pages/Work-the-Election.aspx>

PLACER COUNTY

As another example, Placer County needs 400 Election Aides, assigned to stations in groups of 10. Placer County pays $16 to $21 per hour, plus $25 to attend training. Call (530) 886-5650 or visit the county website <https://www.placercountyelections.gov/serve-as-an-election-aide/>

Preservation Sacramento to Showcase Six Boulevard Park Properties for Historic Home Tour

Showing Midtown Sacramento's Boulevard Park area, Preservation Sacramento is proud to present the 48th Annual Historic Home Tour on Sunday, September 22, 2024, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. With a mission to highlight the historically significant architecture, timeless designs, and beautiful décor of some of Sacramento's most prized historic homes and buildings, the 2024 Historic Home Tour will showcase the following six historic properties:

Bonnie Fitzpatrick House: This historic home was designed in 1910 by architects James Seadler and Ernest Hoen for retired Nevada rancher Joseph Marzen and his wife Catherine. After operating as a boarding house for 50+ years, the house was restored and returned to single-family usage in the 1980s.

Huston/Knutson House: Dating from 1906, this two-story "Colonial residence" was designed by architect Alden Campbell for Edward P. Huston, a realtor and manager of an insurance company. Huston and his wife Vena lived in the home for only two years before moving into a new house next door, also by Campbell.

Little House on 22nd: This small, one-story house (approximately 780 sq. ft. in size) is the sole survivor of a row of four identical houses that were built in about 1890 as rentals for tenants that included railroad employees. It is the sole surviving residence of Grant Cross, an African-American community organizer and entrepreneur, and a founder of the West End Club.

Pritchard/Edmonds House: Built in 1909 for

William and Lulu Pritchard, this Craftsman-style house has beautiful interior woodwork and windows, some filled with stained glass. With its front porch extending along the south side, extensive brickwork, varied exterior treatment (both shingles and lap siding), and deep eaves, it resembles a Poverty Ridge house from 1908.

Renwick/Small Apartments: This fourplex was built in 1922 for Frank Renwick, an employee of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and his wife Laura. The contractor was William R. Saunders, who designed and built several multi-unit residences in Boulevard Park and elsewhere in Midtown. The Renwicks lived in one apartment and rented out the others. Each of these "five room flats" has a living room, dining room (originally fitted with a built-in wall-bed that was concealed inside a closet), kitchen, two bedrooms, and a bathroom.

Winters House: Built in 1890, this brightly colored, three-story Queen Anne-style house is one of only two buildings in Boulevard Park to have an individual listing on the National Register of Historic Places. For the 2024 tour, the main residence on the second floor will be open to the public.

The 2024 Historic Home Tour extends about five blocks and is both walkable and bikeable (with bicycle parking available in a Bike Corral provided by SABA, Sacramento Area Bicycle Advocates), so alternative transportation options are recommended.

While touring the historic homes is the highlight of the highly anticipated annual event, a lively, fun, and free street fair will take place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The street fair will include vendors and live musical entertainment, and will be the end point for the spirited Sacramento Tweed Ride 2.0, expected between noon-1 p.m.

Each year, funds raised from Preservation Sacramento's Historic Home Tour support nominations and surveys of historic properties. They also benefit other community projects that raise awareness of important and/or culturally significant historic places.

Tickets to the 2024 Historic Home Tour are on sale now and cost $25 per person in advance for Preservation Members or $30 for the general public in advance or day of the event. For day-of ticket purchases, the ticket booth will be located in Fat Alley between F & G and 21st & 22nd Streets. To purchase advance tickets and/or for more information, please visit www.preservationsacramento.org/hometour.

Nancy Pelosi Live on Stage & Unscripted

by Chris Narloch

My favorite photo of Nancy Pelosi captures the badass Bay Area Congresswoman ripping up her copy of then-President Donald Trump's State of the Union speech, immediately after he concluded his address and directly behind him on the podium in the U.S. Capitol.

Nancy Pelosi will no doubt have a lot to say about this November's historic election to choose the next U.S. President when she appears for one night only at San Francisco's Orpheum Theatre to discuss her new book, "The Art of Power."

Unscripted: Nancy Pelosi in Conversation with Michael Kransky will also include a moderated audience Q&A and a copy of her book with the purchase of a ticket.

In "The Art of Power," Nancy Pelosi, the most powerful woman in American political history, tells the story of her transformation from housewife to House Speaker, and how she became a master legislator, a key partner to presidents, and the most visible leader of the Trump resistance.

Last Chance to Catch "John Waters: Pope of Trash"

"John Waters: Pope of Trash," the Academy Museum of Motion Picture's first comprehensive exhibition dedicated to queer director John Waters' contributions to cinema, will conclude its run on August 4, 2024.

The dynamic exhibition has been on view since Sept. 17, 2023 and is presented in the Los Angeles museum's Marilyn and Jeffrey Katzenberg Gallery.

"John Waters: Pope of Trash" traces Waters' sixty-year career, featuring over 400 works, including rare and never-before-exhibited objects from Waters' personal collection, handwritten scripts, costumes, props, posters, and film clips.

Visitors journey through Waters' complete filmography, from his DIY independent beginnings to his Hollywood productions, in a series of thematic galleries that explore his process, themes, and the grotesque, daring, and hilarious elements of his films.

Sara Bareilles & Bob Dylan Get Musicals

by Chris Narloch

I have two ways for you to beat the hellish heat during this Sacramento summer, and they both involve the bonus of thrilling theatre. Read on for details.

Waitress

Even on the hottest day of the year, the Broadway At Music Circus theatre in the round is always cool as a cucumber, and the next-to-last show of this season is a winner that I have seen several times before (and will gladly watch again).

The pop singer-songwriter Sara Bareilles could probably write a catchy hook in her sleep, and this uplifting musical celebrates friendship, motherhood, and the magic of a well-baked pie with its story of Jenna, a waitress who dreams of a way out of her small town and rocky marriage.

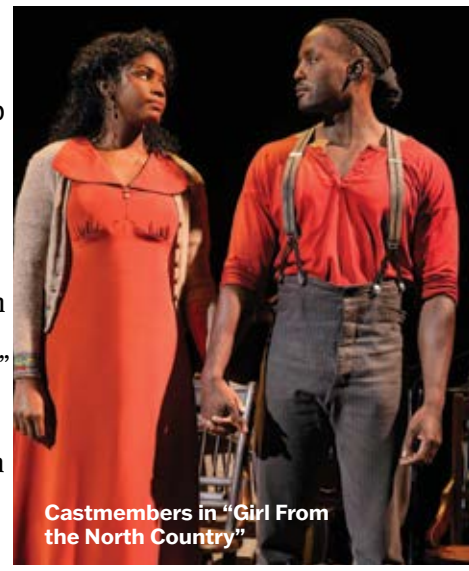

“Waitress” plays Aug. 6–11 at Sacramento’s UC Davis Health Pavilion. For more information and to purchase tickets, go to: www.broadwaysacramento.com

Girl From the North Country

No matter what the temperature is in Sacramento, it’s almost always cooler in the Bay Area, and there is another reason to take a day trip to San Francisco: to see this universally acclaimed, Tony Award-winning musical from writer-director Conor McPherson, which reimagines 20 legendary songs by Bob Dylan.

It’s 1934 in Duluth, Minnesota, where we meet a group of wayward travelers whose lives intersect in a guesthouse filled with music, life, and hope. The score’s classic Dylan songs include “Forever Young,” “All Along the Watchtower,” “Slow Train Coming,” and “Like A Rolling Stone.”

The limited engagement of “Girl From the North Country” performs July 30–Aug. 18 at BroadwaySF’s Golden Gate Theatre. Please visit: www.broadwaysf.com

“Twisters” Blows the Roof Off Plus, Nicolas Cage Goes Crazy

by Chris Narloch

Very few people venture outside when it's 110+ degrees, unless their job requires it, and yet I get cabin fever when I stay home for too long. Catching up on my moviegoing at local cinemas has allowed me to get out of the house, stay cool during this sweltering Sacramento summer, and write these reviews.

Twisters

Glen Powell looks like the heir apparent to Tom Cruise if Mr. Cruise ever decides to pass the cocky action stud crown. It took me awhile to warm up to Powell, but after seeing his fine performance in Richard Linklater's "Hit Man" recently, and then his sexy portrayal of a social media celebrity in "Twisters," I think he is both a movie star and an actor.

"Twisters" is neither a sequel nor a remake, but it is just as much fun as 1996's "Twister" which was also hokey but thrilling thanks to first-rate (at the time) special effects. I rolled my eyes as the main character in the new movie, a storm chaser played by Daisy Edgar-Jones, created a device designed to diffuse a tornado and then drove straight into a twister to try it out.

There is nothing eye-rolling about the CGI in "Twisters," however, especially a brilliant action sequence set inside a movie theater. This is one movie you need to see on the big screen and ideally in IMAX. Currently in wide theatrical release.

Twisters

Longlegs

Longlegs

No matter the movie, no matter the part, Nic Cage commits totally to whatever role he's given, even if it's in a shlocky B-movie or a horror film. He's a truly great actor, and he's "all in" playing the title character of Longlegs, a real devil who makes evil dolls that cause men to kill their families.

The plot of "Longlegs" is boilerplate, B-movie horror, filled with Satan worship and devil dolls, but the very talented director, Oz Perkins, gives the movie a thick blanket of dread that hangs over everything. For his part, Cage creates a character so uniquely chilling that I laughed out loud several times at how far he was willing to take the role. Currently in wide theatrical release.

Fly Me to The Moon

Reviews for this retro rom com starring Channing Tatum and Scarlett Johansson have been very mixed. So, I was pleasantly surprised how much I enjoyed the film, which is a wild hybrid of fact and (mostly) fiction about a fake moon landing sponsored by the Nixon administration during the Cold War as a backup, in case NASA's actual Apollo 11 moon landing failed to launch.

After I swallowed that wacky premise, I sat back and enjoyed the romantic chemistry between Channing and Scarlett, the period clothes and cars, and the clever contraption of a story about a marketing professional (Johansson) who at first clashes with an official at NASA (Tatum) after she is hired to sell the space race to the American public. "Fly Me to The Moon" is currently in wide theatrical release.

Fly Me to The Moon

Widow Clicquot

Fans of wine, French films and feminist heroines should love this inspired-by-a-true-story movie, which is in English but is set and filmed in France. The movie recounts the story behind the Veuve Clicquot champagne family and business that began in the late 18th century.

An excellent Haley Bennett plays a strong-willed woman who takes over her husband's vineyards after his death and eventually makes the family business more profitable and distinguished than ever before. All I can say is you will want to head to the nearest wine bar after the movie is over.

"Widow Clicquot" was still playing at Sacramento's Tower Theatre as we went to press.

Boardshorts, Boxcut and Briefs Freshen Your Summer Pool Attire

by Ron Tackitt

Even though we are well into Summer, there are still plenty more days of hot, pool weather ahead, so why not secure a new swim suit to freshen up your fun-in-the-sun look? The great thing is that since we are already deep in the season, the companies selling pool attire are discounting a lot of what they have. Meaning, great prices can be had, but selection might be tight. Here are some options that came up on FB after searching for trunks on Google.

Native in Nashville Native Swim Men's Board Shorts – Red
Make the splash you want with these bright red board shorts with the Native logo in white. They have a drawstring closing and a pocket. These are on sale for under $30.
www.nativeinnashville.com

Jack Adams Kayak Swim Trunk
Classic slim fitting square cut that is a time-tested classic for this season and many more to come. These use a stretch, soft and quick-dry material and they are contoured with a center seam with lift enhancement design for added support and comfort, and they come in two great colors. $50
www.jackadamsusa.com

Queer in the World Rainbow Square Cut Swim Trunks.
Showing your pride poolside is a breeze. Just stroll in wearing a pair of these stretchy, comfortable square cut trunks. These can easily be worn as shorts or be used for pool time activities. They have a drawstring tie and offer front pouch support – and who doesn't want that? On sale now for $26.

Flamingo Swim Short
Featuring a fun flamingo print, this classic mid-thigh length board short is unlined and includes a rear patch pocket with metal drain hole and a partial gathered elastic waist with faux fly and decorative button. Great in the water or worn as a short. Made of 100% Polyester. On sale for $44
www.jackadamsusa.com

J Crew 6" Stretch Swim Trunk In Polka-Dot
Stick with a traditional, classic, slim fitting swim trunk made by this long-time clothier that sports East Coast tradition and flair. The polka-dot pattern is fun and timeless, and you are sure to be the only one lounging with this much style. Partially made from discarded fishing nets, these trunks are good for the environment, and they include a keychain loop and are mesh lined to keep things in place. $80

Tucann Pink Camo Swim Shorts (on the cover)
You will be ready for anything in these colorful camo trunks. Made with flexible stretch material they will remain comfortable for a day full of fun and games. They are lined with a "second skin compression layer" for comfort and control, without chafing or discomfort, and they are equipped with two sand proof pockets for your necessary items while at the beach or pool. The color will stay strong because of special Italian ink that will withstand chlorine and salt water. They are quick drying, so you can go from pool to party with no worries. If you want to stand out, these are the swim shorts for you! $80

Outsports Celebrates Queer Olympic Athletes

They don't call it "Gay Paree" for nothing, and over 144 out athletes will be competing in this summer's 2024 Paris Summer Games!

As part of the Outsports Team LGBTQ initiative, Outsports, the leading voice in LGBTQ sports, will be providing in-depth coverage of all "out" LGBTQ athletes – Brittney Griner, Tom Daley, Sha'Carri Richardson and more – throughout the Games.

This year, 24 countries are represented by at least one publicly out athlete. The United States has the most with 28 out athletes. Brazil follows with 22, and then Australia (17), Great Britain (10), and Germany (9).

LGBTQ representation at the Games is vital, especially at a time when in too many of the countries competing in the Olympics, walking down the street, or holding a Pride parade, as an LGBTQ person is still illegal.

This summer's Olympic games air on NBC July 26 – Aug. 11. For more information about Outsports, please visit: www.outsports.com/olympics/team-lgbtq

Rivian Opens A First-Of-Its-Kind Charging Site Near Yosemite

In the charming, historic gold rush town of Groveland, California, Rivian has restored an abandoned gas station to create their first "Charging Outpost" – a unique charging site designed for drivers to not just charge their EVs but to rest and refresh before hitting the road again.

During peak travel seasons, thousands of visitors pass through Groveland each day on their way to nearby adventures, most notably en route to Yosemite National Park 24 miles to the east. The Rivian Yosemite Charging Outpost will be open to the public, offering a host of amenities from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily, with 24-hour access to high-speed charging for Rivian owners.

Inside, visitors will find an inviting experience reminiscent of Rivian spaces across North America. There is a lounge area where guests can sit and relax while enjoying a book from an onsite library. Furniture is both comfortable and sustainable, made of upcycled, second-hand sleeping bags and puffer coats, and tables made of compressed sawdust.

The Charging Outpost also features Rivian merchandise and a "make your own" trail mix available for purchase, as well as complimentary coffee and a water bottle refill station.

Outside, visitors will find our five DC fast chargers and restrooms available 24 hours a day, as well as native plants and educational games that teach about sustainability.

Currently, only Rivian vehicles are able to use Rivian network chargers, but government incentives may change that soon. Visit: stories.rivian.com/yosemitechargingoutpost

28th anniversary

Please Support the Outword Rainbow Fund

For 28 years, we have been Sacramento's resource for LGBTQ+ information, politics, entertainment and we have helped connect and maintain our community.

Because of the continuing trauma being caused by COVID, many of our advertisers are doing everything they can to stay afloat - that includes Outword Magazine. At the onset of the pandemic we changed our distribution model to an online-only affair. That helped us weather the storm, but we have since returned to both online as well traditional, printed copies. Thankfully, the response we have recieved after returning to print has been fantastic!

However, we are continuing to ask that you, our readers and advertisers help us with a contribution that will be used to keep the presses rolling. This money will assist with publishing costs, both in print and online, and help pay our production staff, staff writers and distribution costs among other things.

Should you wish to support us please click on this ad and go to:

OutwordRainbowFund.com.

With your generous contribution you will be listed on the full page ad running in Outword. (Just think, your name in print!)

If you consider us a valuable and vital resource for our LGBTQ+ community, please send some financial Love.

If you have any questions, or comments, please feel free to drop us an email: sales@outwordmagazine.com

Eating in, eating out or even eating in a different town, food is a good thing. Outword reader Alex shared a pic of his amazing-looking Italian dish from Sette Osteria in Washington DC. That's certainly not next door, but gosh darnit, that looks tasty! And so does Stephen's Sacramento homemade, garden-fresh Caprese salad! We would like to thank you for your submissions. We love having our readers share something delicious looking and not politcally apocalyptic. Keep it up! Send your pics and description to graphics@outwordmagazine.com

The FCC Voted To Restore Net Neutrality

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has voted to restore net neutrality by classifying broadband services as a Title II telecommunications service. This decision prohibits internet service providers (ISPs) from blocking, throttling, or engaging in paid prioritization of lawful content. The White House and the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA) supported the FCC's move.

The reclassification of broadband as a common carrier service means it is now subject to regulatory oversight, particularly in terms of consumer pricing. Senators Edward Markey and Ron Wyden celebrated the vote as a victory for maintaining a democratic space on the internet where commerce and communication can thrive.

However, there are concerns raised by Gigi Sohn and Shirley Bloomfield regarding the FCC's decision to forgo required contributions to the Universal Service Fund (USF), which funds connectivity to schools, libraries, rural health care facilities, and provides subsidies like Lifeline for low-income individuals. Sohn criticized the decision, saying it could jeopardize the future of universal service programs, while Bloomfield expressed disappointment that the FCC did not address broader concerns about the online ecosystem in its decision.

Overall, the vote to restore net neutrality has significant implications for the regulation of broadband services and has sparked mixed reactions from various stakeholders in the industry.
